A SACRED QUEST

Message from the Goddess Mothe

By Jan Diana Art by Corey Wolfe My Beloved children,

As I greet you this day, I am in gratitude of heart for the blessings of joy that you Now we are at a pinnacle time where you bring to me, and to the oneness of our are choosing to remember the oneness, sacred family. Each of you has your own the unity of heart and spirit. In rememberspecial flavor that delights my heart and ing this unity, there remains the individual sings a song into the oneness of all that self as well, offering the blessings of being your own sacred self as well as connected is, creating a symphony of such delight. to the oneness of our sacred family.

You are on a sacred quest My Beloveds, a journey to experience what it is to know This is been calling to your heart as you vourself outside of the oneness of our forhear the voices, let us join together in ever lightness. These times of awakenoneness, let us have peace and prosperiing are illuminating the sweet memories ty and joy for one and all. Your voice joins of our unity, thus the quest to return into with the collective of heart in this quest to that oneness pushes you to reach further re-establish this unity consciousness and so we celebrate. We celebrate this time of and further to attain more glimpses of that sweet memory of the truth of your being. heart as you remember yourself and your family of heart.

In truth you have never left the oneness; you have only forgotten it for a time. This You might ask, how can I remember more, has presented an opportunity to rediscovhow can I feel connected to my authener yourself, to remember again and pertic true self and be in oneness? What are haps see yourself through new eyes. some steps on this quest that will assist

Imagine if you will, swimming in a pool of love, feeling the joy and unity of heart in every moment of existence, always I shall offer you a simple plan this day, knowing the joy of unconditional love and which will become your greatest bringer of joy, for this truly is a sacred quest for acceptance. There is no resistance, no brokenness, nothing of less ness, only joy. To love yourself is the golden key to fullness and ever-expanding lightness opening the heart of remembering all that and love. To swim in this pool of love is you desire. Loving you will bring about the greatest joy. changes in your life which perhaps you have not even dreamed of.

In a great plan of heart, an opportunity was offered to experience what it would Let me share with you why this is the golden key you have been in search of. be like to have conscious awareness of yourself as an individual. Oh what a great Love is the great healer and restorer. Why is this? Well the essence of you is pure gift this was My Beloveds, as this offered something which you had never experidivine love. In fact, the source of all of enced before, and so the great plan of the journey of lives began.

me to more fully recognize this glorious truth that my heart calls out to remember? creation is this same loving essence. It to remember more easily your sacred may be playing roles that appear to be truth. You can follow this plan as you other than love, but at the core, the es- choose. It is a simple plan and yet it will sence is pure love.

something or someone, this magnetizes the heart connection, bringing a great joy to your awareness. Your heart is connected to the forever lightness and is always connected to my heart and the oneness of all that is. When you express love, this sends a message of heart to whatever or whomever you are focusing upon.

When you choose to spend time each day, loving yourself, this opens up your heart to hear and receive the messages more clearly. You will begin to attract wonder that you are, on your wonderful more love into your life, whether it be loving relationships, beautiful surroundings or whatever your heart has been desiring to experience and express.

I will say yes it is. With effort and time you will see what appears as miracles presenting in your life.

love something it feels validated; it re- you are intimately a part of. members and begins to feel the truth of itself more clearly. Love is your natural Much time has perhaps been spent in state of being. You divine essence is love, you are love, so loving comes naturally. Any resistance to this truth is part for all in your life, and in recognizing your of the illusion of separateness which has many gifts and blessings. Love yourself been part of your journey on the duality dimensional planes.

Now is your time to shine evermore, take some conscious choice and effort. Take heart in knowing that each of you When you consciously express love to will remember in time and complete that destiny that you chose so long ago.

> If you are passionate about this quest, let us begin together today and I will assist you, always holding the vision of your truth in my heart and shining it out to you as a loving reminder.

> Spend time each day in activities that nourish you. When you speak about yourself, speak in loving kindness, honoring yourself and your amazement. Choose thoughts which focus on the life experiences and accomplishments.

Be kind to you. Be your greatest fan and friend. Practice kindness to yourself and to all that you come into contact with You might ask, can it be this simple and until it is just an automatic response of heart. Be patient with yourself through this process. Remember we are all one family in oneness of heart, so when you offer loving kindness to another, it offers You see everything is love, so when you this love to your sweet family, of which > finding what you feel is missing with you or your life. Now switch that to gratitude and your life, and watch yourself blossom just as a beautiful flower blooms as the sun shines upon it.

What you focus on grows and expands, As a Gift I am offering you a Free Teleso focus on loving, on your beautiful Class, "The Golden Key to Loving You" eyes that sparkle, your amazing mind, Discover pathways to remembering your your body which carries you throughout sacred truth. Align with your sacred self this journey of life, your sweet spirit and in your quest for your authentic truth. your uniqueness. There is only one you, Feel the essence of your sacred self, so celebrate that and know your flavor is radiating unconditional love and acceptance. Bath in the bliss of forever lightdelicious to us all. ness

As each one loves themself more this also sends a message into the collec- Note: Register by subscribing by email tive stirring memories, Yes, I am love at www.sunshineinyourheart.com too, I am remembering, I shall love myself more.

Jan Diana is an intuitive healer, Love is the golden key to illuminate your spiritual teacher, and sacred quest of remembering your truth. master practitioner. In this sacred quest to remember your-Her mission is to self, once discovered you will find the assist clients and quest continues to expand and become students in creating even more, for you are infinite in nature harmony, balance, with limitless potentials and possibilities heightened levels to elevate and expand ever more. How of clarity, develop exciting this is to know you continue to innate gifts and abilities, empowering become more illuminated and enlightthem on their personal evolution to creened. Living in forever lightness, in the ate the dreams of their heart. She utiforever love is infinite bliss. lizes several modalities including SVH L3M, Animal healing, GHM, Language Always remember you are never alone of love, Reiki Master, and more.

in this quest. Your authentic self is quiding you. You also have many angels, Sessions and Classes by phone. If you guides and masters assisting you in have questions or would like to set up a your progression of remembering. I am session, you can reach her at website here with you as well. Open your heart www.sunshineinyourheart.com and feel the loving presence that is radior by email ating love to you perpetually, and allow sunsinyourheart@aol.com yourself to receive that love and follow the loving guidance." SPECIAL offer 20% discount for new clients. Free meditation journeys, articles, & classes. http://www.sunshineinyourheart.com/ free telecasts.html

With great love, Your Beloved Mother